

Alicia DeVore

GARDEN TEACHER, COACH, &
DESIGNER

I help people make gardening a part of their lives with simple systems that make gardening easy.

Alicia is based in California where she has grown gardens for the past 10 years for herself and others. But her gardening knowledge has helped many from all over the world.

She uses the garden to teach how to practically grow a successful garden without spending lots of time. Simplifying the process of gardening for those that live in small spaces or large to make sure that they can grow their own, organic food.
